| 4. Child and Adolescent Mental Health Division (CAMHD) Annual Evaluation Summary, cont'd. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Race: 65% are multi-racial. • Diagnosis: 26% have been diagnosed with Disruptive Behavior. • There is a 28 percent increase in the number of youth served at CAMHD in FY 2016 compared to the previous four (4) years. • The population served continues to be in the younger age range, which may be due to the Department of Education's focus on the younger aged group. • The trend shows that youth with disruptive behavior diagnosis appears to be decreasing, while there is an increase in the youth with adjustment and anxiety diagnoses. • Out-of-home services have shown large decreases between FY 2012 and FY 2016 primarily due to CAMHD's adherence to Child and Adolescent Service System Program (CASSP) principles, which stresses less restrictive and more in-home treatment for youth. • Intensive in-home services is the largest service provided by CAMHD. The data shows that use of this service has increased over the past four (4) years, which is in line with CAMHD's goals. • Multisystemic therapy (MST) services have decreased over the past four (4) years; however, CAMHD is working to see an increase in this area. • Parents are more focused on the satisfaction of current services provided to their children rather than on clinical outcomes. • Overall, there is a decrease in cost per youth. | For information, only. | | |
| 5. Follow-Up on Proclamation for National Recovery Month in September | Dr. Vorsino explained to Council members that the letter requesting the Proclamation submitted by the Council for National Recovery Month was returned with the protocol for submission of Proclamations, Commendations, or Special Messages.
